Quantity Prices

You are urged to compare the prices in this list with the prices of any other grower in this or any other country. Instead of developing extensive or elaborate display gardens, an effort has been made to provide better plants for less money than can be secured anywhere else in the world. This has been made possible because of a carefully planned system of growing the plants. The purchaser receives the benefit, as the result of this economy is reflected in the unusual prices quoted. Especially is this true when 5 or more plants of a variety, or when 8, 15, 25, 50 or more different varieties can be used. Garden Clubs or other groups as well as individuals are urged to take advantage of the saving as indicated in the following price schedules. See list of Special Bargains also, pages 6, 14, 15 and 16.

It has been my policy to offer plants at the lowest price possible, commensurate with quality, rather than offer collections in which there might be varieties not desired or even varieties of questionable value, simply because a surplus might be available. I will be glad to help make up collections if desired, provided the following schedules are not sufficient.

The quantity price of any variety is ascertained by reference to the retail price and then from the table obtaining the price in lots of 5 and 25 or more. As an example of the saving, if 25 plants of one variety priced at $6.00 each were purchased, the price would be $4.50 each, or a saving of $37.50; if 5 plants of one variety priced at $20.00 each were purchased, the price would be $18.00 each or a saving of $10.00. Thus a saving of $47.50 would be made on the purchase of 30 plants, and so on for the varieties at different prices throughout the list.

Quantity Price Schedule

When One Each of As Many As 8 to 50 or More Different Varieties Are Purchased

Since it is contrary to my wishes to sell you a “pig in a poke,” which is virtually what many collections are, not knowing what varieties you already have or those you do not want, and yet, desiring to give you the greatest possible satisfaction and at the same time enable you to make a real saving, the following price schedule is offered. For example, when 50 different varieties, all priced at $.50 each, are purchased, the price is .45 each, as shown in column 1, or a saving of $5.00; when 25 different varieties, all priced at $3.00 each are purchased, the price is $2.70 each, as shown in column 2, or a saving of $7.50; if 15 different varieties all priced at $20.00 each are purchased, the price is $18.00 each, as shown in Column 3, a saving of $30.00; or if 8 different varieties all priced at $10.00 each are purchased, the price is $9.50, as shown in Column 4, a saving of $4.00; or a total saving on the 98 plants of $46.00.

Order Early

All plants are offered subject to being in stock and not sold upon receipt of order. I have a good stock of most varieties but of a few the supply is limited. Prices are net for one plant and terms are cash, unless otherwise arranged. Orders will be filled in the order received. Retail orders take precedence over wholesale. Write names plainly and give shipping directions carefully. Keep a copy of your order. Shipments will be made during July, August and September, unless otherwise requested. Since the prices are so low, do not ask me to fill an order for less than $2.00 if it is to be delivered, unless 25 cents is added for postage. All orders will be carefully packed without extra charge. Retail orders amounting to $2.00 or more will be delivered free, either by express or parcel post anywhere in the United States. Foreign delivery at cost.

Cash Discounts

Cash discounts allowed on retail orders received and paid for before July 1st, amounting to less than $50.00, 2 per cent; $50.00 or over, 5 per cent; $100.00 or over, 10 per cent. Other benefits of equal value you will receive from placing your order at once are:

Extra Quality—from first selection of plants.

Better Service—by avoiding rush period.

No disappointments—due to sold out varieties.

Save money—by taking advantage of discounts.

Special prices will be quoted on 500 or more of one variety, and large orders made up of a small number of many varieties. Wholesale price list will be sent to dealers only.

Guarantee

Roots sent out will be average size or larger for the variety represented. They are grown under my personal supervision. I personally fill all orders. Original plants of practically all varieties have been received direct from the originator, insuring true stock. The greatest possible care is then exercised to keep all varieties accurately labeled and true to name. Certificate of nursery inspection will accompany each shipment. All plants are guaranteed to reach you in good condition. If not entirely satisfactory upon receipt, I will cheerfully refund the purchase price, provided plants are returned at once. If for any other reason they are not satisfactory, please advise at once and you can depend upon me to adjust same. Remember the deal is not closed until all reliable customers are satisfied. Planting instructions accompany each shipment.

What Others Say

Irises were shipped to practically all States last year and several foreign countries. I received many generous expressions of the quality of plants supplied and prompt service rendered—big healthy, vigorous plants, carefully packed to arrive in good condition, and at prices almost unequalled.

An Oregon grower wrote upon receipt of shipment, "We here in the Northwest boast of big husky rhizomes, but you have us beaten. Never saw finer plants and in such perfect condition."

A grower in Michigan said "I want to tell you what I think of the kind of plants you sent me. They were wonderful. I appreciate your generous treatment."

From Missouri, "In my twenty years buying irises, I have never received better plants, especially of the new varieties."

A New England iris specialist wrote me, "You are doing a wonderful thing for the iris trade to send out such fine plants at such remarkable prices."

What an iris grower in Kentucky wrote, "I am more than pleased with my order. The plants arrived in perfect condition. The plants purchased last year gave me excellent results."

A grower in California wrote, "I am glad to inform you that my order of iris arrived in first-class condition yesterday afternoon (October 11th). And they also are the best appearing ones I have ever received. They should all come along fine and bloom next spring. Would you inform me if I placed orders for iris this coming season from the people who see my gardens, will you furnish me more at the prices quoted this year?"

It has been a genuine pleasure to have such expressions of approval or to know if for any reason an order has not been entirely satisfactory.

An "Iris Lovers' Guide"

For full descriptions of varieties, care and planting instructions or other information refer to my new Catalogue or Iris Lovers' Guide, as it has been referred to by many, "New, Rare and Good Old Irises." About 1,000 varieties have been accurately described and rated. Among other things will be the name of originator and date of introduction, principal awards, average height of bloom stalk, season of bloom from very early to very late, both garden and exhibition rating, how to select, plant and care for irises, and other information not otherwise readily available.

I have received many favorable comments on this endeavor. One grower stated in his catalogue: "In view of my own disappointment in getting out the list that I had hoped to, I take pleasure in recommending to you an Iris list which is the most complete and valuable for descriptions of any I have ever seen. It is issued by Earl Wooddell Sheets . . . It sells for 25 cents but is worth a dollar to anyone who is really interested in iris, for the information it contains."

Another grower wrote: "You have done more to help the commercial iris game than any other similar effort in a dozen years." And another "The 25 cents I paid for your 'Iris Lovers' Guide' was the best iris investment I have ever made," and so on by the dozen.

The Bulletin of the American Iris Society, No. 30, January, 1929, states:

"For the real collector . . . the new Catalogue of the Treholme Gardens offer the most comprehensive lists I have run across, of recent years. Mr. Sheets with more space at his disposal gives good reasons for even the poorly rated. For the student his descriptions are markedly thorough and helpful. His private ratings on exhibition and garden value average no higher than those in the symposium and though my experience with some varieties varies from his reports that is only to be expected in a different clime or garden. He gives height accurately and is the first in this country at least to record seasons from very early to very late. This is in itself a real contribution even though it records the facts in only one possibly small district. The premiums offered to customers who become members of the society are only approached (by one other). Whatever the actual returns to the society may be we owe much to their generous expression of interest."

An official of the American Iris Society wrote: "I find your "Iris Lover's Guide" indispensable in the show room and in the selection of varieties for exhibitions as well as for all other purposes throughout the year."

Another said: "I appreciate your exhibition and garden rating information. Your appraisal of the new ones especially is invaluable. It has saved and made me many dollars."

The 1932 edition contains more than 250 new varieties and omits nearly as many that I consider have been superseded or are no longer needed. If you are a customer of mine and have purchased iris during the past year, you have already received a copy or I will gladly send you one upon request, to others the price is 25 cents. Do not send coin. Send P. O. Money Order or Stamps to avoid possible loss. A copy will be sent free with all orders. If a copy is purchased at 25 cents and an order amounting to $2.50 is placed later, any 50 cent iris may be selected free.

I have added Japanese, Dutch and Spanish iris this year and have given tentative ratings. Peonies have been added also, with exhibition, garden, and commercial ratings given for the first time.

Treholme Gardens are located within sight of the National Capital near College Park, Md. Visitors are always welcome, but by appointment only.

RETAIL PRICE LIST

For complete description, exhibition and garden rating, average height, season of bloom, etc., of all varieties, together with other information not readily available, see my 1932 Iris Lovers' Guide and Descriptive Catalogue, "New, Rare and Good Old Irises." It is free to those who purchased iris the past year. To others it is 25 cents. If you purchase iris this year to the amount of $2.50, you will receive a copy free. Or if you purchase a copy now and buy iris later this year, you will receive a credit of any 50 cent iris selected from this list. For quantity prices see pages 5, 6, 14 and 15; wholesale price list available to dealers only.

TALL AND INTERMEDIATE BEARDED IRIS (May and June Flowering)

This group may be said to be the most satisfactory and easily grown group of plants now in cultivation. They are unexcelled for brilliancy of color, very hardy and free flowering and excellent for cutting. In the effort to have bloom in the garden throughout the year, May-flowering Irises should not be overlooked. During late seasons this group provides the only memorial Day flower to be found in quantity. They are most useful and dependable, being of medium height and early to bloom. They are especially useful as borders for tulip beds. The intermediate varieties are from 18 to 28 inches in height being taller than the Dwarfs, bloom ten days later and a week or more before the Tall Bearded varieties. They are, therefore, intermediate in size as well as in height and, for the most part, in season of bloom. The Tall Bearded varieties begin blooming in late May and bloom for six weeks most seasons. They vary in height from 30 inches up to 50 inches or more.

MAKE YOUR OWN COLLECTIONS

It is recommended that you make your own collections. By doing so you will avoid the disappointment of getting varieties you already have or do not want. The quantity prices on pages 5, 6 and 15 should enable individuals, Garden Clubs or other groups to make a substantial saving and at the same time obtain the varieties desired. While the prices quoted are already unusually low considering the quality of plants offered a further saving of one-third the retail price may be made as indicated below, if 3 each of 50 different varieties can be used:

Select 50 different varieties your choice, priced at 20 cents each and I will send you 3 of each or 150 plants for $20.00, a saving of $10.00.

Select 50 different varieties your choice, priced at 25 cents each and I will send you 3 of each or 150 plants for $25.00, a saving of $12.50.

Select 50 different varieties your choice, priced at 35 cents each and I will send you 3 of each or 150 plants for $35.00, a saving of $17.50.

Select 50 different varieties your choice, priced at 50 cents each and I will send you 3 of each or 150 plants for $50.00, a saving of $25.00.

Select 50 different varieties your choice, priced at 75 cents each and I will send you 3 of each or 150 plants for $75.00, a saving of $37.50.

Select 50 different varieties your choice, priced at $1.00 each and I will send you 3 of each or 150 plants for $100.00, a saving of $50.00.

If you are unable to make up the collections desired at a price that is attractive, submit a list of the varieties you want and the number of each and I will be glad to quote you a special price on the collection.

BARGAIN LIST

The following varieties of Tall Bearded irises will be sold, if order is received and paid for before July 1st, five of one variety for 50 cents; 25 of one variety for $2.00; the whole-sale rate to dealers, for 15 cent retail varieties, will apply while they last.

The list includes many beautiful and attractive varieties in almost any desired color. I have a number of personal favorites in the list. In the absence of the newer and better varieties they would still be very desirable. After years of the most thorough trial and observation, however, I feel that further propagation is not justified. While they are no longer recommended, they are offered at very low prices to those who desire them.

DWARF IRISES

(April Flowering—Pumila)

The Dwarf varieties are being used in ornamental beds, either of a single coloring or with a harmonious combination of coloring. Their greatest usefulness, however, probably is as low-growing borders for other plants. They are also used in rock gardens for which, on account of their ability to withstand droughts, they are especially well adapted. They increase rapidly and soon fill their part to good advantage.

SIBERIAN IRISES

Among the most elegant of all Irises and among the easiest to grow are the varieties of this group. They are among the best for cutting or for massing by the waterside. The flowers are various shades of blue and purple, with white or pink markings and pure white. They succeed best in moist locations.

MISCELLANEOUS IRISES

(Species and Varieties)

There are a great many species, sub-species and varieties of Irises. I have grown many of this group for a number of years. I have imported them from England and France a number of times. Some difficulty is encountered in getting some of these new varieties to establish themselves. I give them very similar treatment to the other groups, except where noted. They require somewhat different treatment as to season to dig, divide, reset, and ship, which information is given to those interested. This group contains many of my favorites. Most of these irises are especially adapted for use in rock gardens.

Japanese Irises

For a richly colored display in the border or for specimen clumps, Japanese Irises are highly recommended. They bloom after the bearded iris and continue for several weeks. They are excellent for cutting and for garden decoration. The colors are very striking, being white, blue, purple, red and combinations of these colors, beautifully harmonized. While they require somewhat different treatment than the bearded varieties, yet they are hardy and most satisfactory. They require a sunny location and a rich soil with plenty of moisture, but where water does not stand. The addition of a little peat moss to clay soils will be very beneficial. Since they do best in slightly acid soil, no lime should be used; in locations where there is danger from heaving during freezing weather a light mulch may be applied the first season after planting.

I have been growing a large number of the best named varieties of Japanese iris for many years in my attempts to classify and rate, both for exhibition and landscape purposes. While this work is progressing I have accumulated a surplus of many varieties that I can now offer at unusual prices. They are first class plants in every respect and up to the Treholme Standard and Quality.

Delivery will begin about September 15th, or earlier if desired. The danger from dry weather has usually passed by that date and they can be planted without loss. Japanese Iris are quite hardy. They do not stand dry weather at planting time, however, as well as the bearded varieties. If weather is dry when planted they should be watered frequently until established.

Dutch and Spanish Irises

For several years I have been growing Dutch and Spanish Iris. The growing of these types has given me great pleasure. They come in pure white and all shades from white, through red, yellow, blue and to deep purple, some being spotted, splashed and mottled most artistically, in a wonderful harmony of colors. They are excellent for cutting. If cut in the bud they will keep for a long time in water. They blend splendidly with other flowers. For best effect they should be planted in clumps of one or two dozen, or better, in rows for ease of cultivation which they should have at frequent intervals. They are well adapted for planting in the hardy border, and for forcing in the green house or in pots.

They are very hardy when given proper treatment. They do not do well in a hot, dry situation. They thrive in cool, moist soil that is well enriched with compost or well rotted manure. Planted in September they will bloom the next spring soon after the narcissus season.

I lift the bulbs when mature, which is usually before the tops begin to die down in late July. As soon as dug, they are spread out in trays in a dry location where the air passes over them freely. I plant them back again in early October, setting 6 inches apart and about 4 to 5 inches deep, depending upon the size; the larger bulbs being planted five inches deep in light, sandy soil. They are planted about four inches deep if the soil is clay loam. The soil is pressed firmly over them. A loose mulch will be helpful if the soil is inclined to heave them out in winter.

I have confidence that these irises will be much more generally grown in a few years. A little patience in learning their habits and requirements of soil and climate will be well rewarded. I have heard some complaints that a few bulbs are lost each year. My losses, however, are no greater than with tulips, gladioli or other bulbs.

The following varieties are among the best that are now in existence. The prices are for the large, first size blooming bulbs. The size of the bulbs vary somewhat according to the variety. Plant a few well chosen varieties under favorable conditions and they will be a source of much enjoyment.

PEONIES OF SPECIAL MERIT

When you plant a peony you make a permanent investment. It is one of the most satisfactory and easy to grow of all flowers. I have a collection of more than 250 varieties which includes most of the best peonies in the world. I have been collecting them for more than 15 years. During this time I have made a study of varieties in much the same manner as of iris. Tentative exhibition, garden and commercial ratings are given in the 1932 "Iris Lovers' Guide." The following varieties are offered in three to five eye standard divisions at most unusual prices.

An "Iris Lover's Guide"

The new "Iris Lover's Guide," referred to on page 8 is much more than a descriptive catalogue. It is an indispensable reference volume of 100 pages that puts the new ones where they belong, including nearly 200 discarded varieties. It gives the exhibition and garden ratings, most of which are not otherwise available, for 1,000 of the newest and best as well as the good old varieties from this and other countries. Much of the information given about Tall, Intermediate, Dwarf, Siberian, Dutch, Spanish, Japanese, Miscellaneous Species and varieties is not to be found in any other publication. Other new features include the tentative exhibition, garden and commercial ratings of Dutch, Spanish and Japanese Iris as well as Poenies, which are given for the first time.

If you are a customer of mine and have purchased Iris during the past year you have already or will soon receive a copy, to others the price is 25 cents. It will be sent free with all orders. If a copy is purchased at 25 cents and an order amounting to $2.50 is placed later, any 50 cent Iris may be selected free. Garden clubs or other groups may order together and obtain 10 copies for $2.00.

Treholme Iris and Peony Show

May 20th to 28th

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

The annual private showing of hundreds of the new, rare and good old irises and peonies from Treholme Gardens is a feature for flower lovers in the vicinity of Washington, D. C. This rare treat has been made possible through the cooperation of Woodward & Lothrop, 10th, 11th, F and G Streets N. W., Washington's leading Department Store.

This will be an opportunity to see many of the new Treholme seedlings for the first time, as well as the newest introductions from this and other countries.

The National Capital Iris Show, which is held in cooperation with the American Iris Society, will be staged at the Carlton Hotel, 16th and K Streets N. W., May 17th and 18th.
